"The only challenges you have are the challenges you think you have. Our work together will challenge you to think differently." - Andrea Goeglein

Providing an intensive one-with-one guided process designed to shift your thinking and help you prioritize your top goals and objectives to achieve the results you desire. Professional, business and leadership development offerings based in scientific theory and supported by business application.

Using the knowledge of your natural strengths, you will:

Access your current business or career goals and objectives and align with your natural strengths for greater achievement

Focus your thinking and commit to a plan of action to achieve your goals and objectives

Prioritize areas of challenge and learn techniques to transform for desired outcomes

Set an Action Plan incorporating goals, objectives and timetable for achievement

Your initial 90-day package includes:

- Two-hour intake conference
- Ten, one-hour consultations
- Behavior Profile of Management & Managers
- Strengths Profile of Management & Managers
- Tools to develop a Business/Career Strategic and/or Marketing Plan
- Action Plan for the next 90 days with tangible tools for your personal development

Sessions are scheduled at your convenience and can take place by telephone, video conferencing, or in person in Las Vegas. To explore if this is the right process at the right time for you, contact Dr. Goeglein at 866.975.3777 to request a pre-meeting questionnaire.

Dr. Goeglein holds a Master's in HROD, a PhD in Organizational Psychology, and advanced training in Positive Psychology. Goeglein is a business founder who is academically trained and uses that training to guide the success of others.

Andrea is called Dr. Success for a reason. She has an uncanny ability to get to the heart of the subject and provide a structure towards achieving your goal. Andrea is not a sounding board - she challenges and pushes you to think critically and honestly about whatever situation, positive or negative. Andrea is organized, knowledgeable and passionate which makes for an enjoyable experience all around. I highly recommend Andrea to help in achieving your professional goals, working through business issues or deciding to make a career change...and more.

- Jonathan Snyder, Innovative Business Development and Finance Executive

Transitioning from senior leadership positions in the military to leadership positions in the civilian sector is a major life shift. Andrea's expertise and guidance can make sure you 'shift' in the best direction.
